DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claim 27 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Who is in need thereof? Relatively little is known about the effects of this receptor. There is no way of knowing just who this claim covers. Do most people or even everyone need this? That is, do even relatively healthy people benefit from having this receptor antagonized?

Double Patenting

Claims 7, 9, 10, 13-15, 23, 27, 28 are provisionally rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 23, 24, 26, 28, 33 of copending Application No. 10/285747. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because these are basically just slightly narrower version of the claims of the daughter case. Thus, the species of claim 23 is one of the several dozen species of claim 33 of the daughter case, and of course, this actual species is in both cases. With regard to claims 7 and 10, while not specifically recited in the daughter case, these would be covered by the last four choices of claim 26 of the daughter case.

Art Unit: 1624

This is a provisional obviousness-type double patenting rejection because the conflicting claims have not in fact been patented.
